In most cases text is just a text. You write it and write and write. The system create line breaks by itself.